

SOUNDS JULY 2

CLINT: NO interruptions, please

FOETUS INTERRUPTUS is the latest incarnation of the Foetus beast fostered by the notorious Clint Ruin. And it will make its first and last live UK appearance at London's Kentish Town Town And Country Club on September 20.

The Foetus line-up for the show is a roll call of US gutter artists: Clint himself on vocals, Swans' Norman Westberg and Al Kizys on guitar and bass, drummer Bob Bert from Pussy Galore and the relatively obscure Nainz Watts on guitar and effects.

Tickets are £6 and are available from the venue, Rough Trade, and the usual agents. And there will be an album from Foetus Interruptus called 'Thaw' released in September on Self Immolation (through Some Bizzare).
